Security Screening

All guests returning to the ship are required to undergo security screening. Objects containing metal, including mobile phones, cameras, binoculars, reading glass cases, large belt buckles, batteries, electrical devices, etc., will set off the walk-through metal detector and delay boarding. These items must be deposited in the provided trays prior to passing through the metal detector. Guests with surgical metal implants, significant quantities of metal jewelry, metal shoe stays, etc., may be subject to additional screening, such as a hand-held metal detector or "Pat Search."

Public Health Reminder

To help maintain a healthy environment, please wash your hands frequently and thoroughly with soap for at least 20 seconds, and rinse them well. We strongly recommend that you follow this procedure each time you use the restroom, after coughing or sneezing and before eating, drinking or smoking. Avoid touching your mouth. We also encourage you to use your private toilet facilities and not the public toilet unless absolutely necessary.

For assistance shoreside, contact the port agent:

- Evening gown, cocktail dress, or elegant pantsuit.
- Tuxedo, dark suit or dinner jacket and slacks.

Ship's Security Notice

In order to prevent unauthorized persons boarding the ship, you are required to carry your "Medallion" with you when going ashore. You will be asked to present this at the gangway when you leave and return to the ship. Please ensure that you also have your Government issued Photo ID with you before leaving the ship as you will be required to show this at security checkpoints upon your return.

Agricultural Notice

Local authority rules stipulate that no food, no flowers, no seeds or beverage products except water are to be taken off the ship in port to avoid a fine. Please consume these items onboard before proceeding ashore.

Puerto Chiapas

Puerto Chiapas is the entry port to the southernmost part of Mexico and the town of Tapachula. The original name of this city was Tapacholatl, which in the Nahuatl language means "flooded land." According to tradition it was founded in 1486 by Tiltlotl, the leader of the Aztec army sent by Ahuizotl to conquer the region. In 1813 the Courts of Cadiz (first constitutional congress in Spain) officially recognized it as a town. They authorized maritime commerce with the rest of Mexico, Guatemala and Peru via the port of San Benito later known as Puerto Madero and today bears the name Puerto Chiapas. In 1920 the Soconusco Coffee Union was established, and in 1929, airplane service was introduced. It was not until the 1950s, however, that Tapachula became modernized. The city of Tapachula is characterized by its warm climate and traditional architecture. It is the region where the mango variety named Ataulfo was first grown. The vegetation is exuberant and extremely varied; the most representative flowers are the heliconias, hawaianas, anturios and orchids, which grow in the highest points of the region. Archaeological evidence shows that somewhere around 1750 BC the inhabitants of the region had developed a hierarchical village society, with larger, more elaborate houses presumably reserved for chieftains. A few decades before the Spanish arrived, the Aztecs conquered Soconusco. The region had been relatively isolated before that, protected from the rest of Mesoamerica by the mountains of the continental divide (Sierra Madre del Sur).
